CII Fall Conference Highlights What's Next for Financial Markets and Corporate Governance

Washington, D.C., Sept. 8, 2010 — Investment pros, governance experts and senior officials at regulatory agencies will speak at the Council of Institutional Investors' (CII) fall conference Sept. 19-21, 2010, in southern California. The meeting will be held at the Hotel del Coronado on Coronado Island, across the bay from San Diego.

The meeting, "A Legacy of Leadership," marks the Council's 25th year of advocating for good corporate governance and strong shareowner rights.

Speakers include:

Shlomo Benartzi, professor and co-chair, Behavioral Decision Making Group, UCLA Anderson School of Management, and chief behavioral economist, Allianz Global Investors

Neel Kashkari, managing director and head of new investment initiatives, PIMCO

Ginger Lew, senior advisor, White House National Economic Council and head of the Small Business Administration

Deven Sharma, president, Standard & Poor's

Elisse Walter, commissioner, U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission

NOTE: Reporters are welcome to cover the conference, starting with the kickoff reception on Sunday, September 19, but must register in advance. For security reasons, no one will be admitted to conference sessions without a name badge. Cameras will not be permitted in the meeting sessions without prior arrangement.

To register, please contact Adrienne Allen at Adrienne@cii.org or 202-261-7080

For further details, including the full meeting agenda, please visit the fall meeting Event page of the Council's Web site.

The Council of Institutional Investors (CII) is a nonprofit association of public, union and corporate pension funds with combined assets that exceed $3 trillion. Member funds are major long-term shareowners with a duty to protect the retirement assets of millions of American workers. The Council strives to educate its members, policymakers and the public about good corporate governance, shareowner rights and related investment issues, and to advocate on members' behalf.
