CII Elects Board Members for 2023-2024 - Members Also Approve Policy on Corporate Disclosure of Shareholder Proponents

Washington, D.C., March 9, 2023 — Aeisha Mastagni, portfolio manager at the California State Teachers’ Retirement System, was elected board chair of the Council of Institutional Investors, March 6. Also on March 6, CII’s U.S. Asset Owner members approved a new policy that urges public companies to include the names of proponents in proxy statements. Although most companies disclose this information, some do not, as current Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) rules only require companies to provide the names to shareholders upon request. Not including a proponents’ identity can make it difficult for other investors to engage with the proponent.

Investors’ interest in the identity of proponent also reflects the growing number of proposals filed by interest groups. Shareholders casting proxy ballots are especially interested in monitoring for instances where a proposal’s substance has a tenuous or limited connection to its proponent’s main policy objectives. CII has discussed the potential for a rulemaking fix with SEC officials.
